GET TO KNOW REVCOMM CONSULTING

RevComm Consulting is a passionate and growing woman-owned nonprofit consulting business that aims to revolutionize communities through the power of philanthropy. Founded in 2017, RevComm Consulting specializes in empowering nonprofit organizations to expand their reach through strategic marketing, securing grant funding, enhancing organizational capacity, optimizing internal processes, and managing the 501(c)(3) start-up process. While a large majority of our clients are in the Southern California region, RevComm Consulting has supported agencies across the United States and expanded internationally in 2025! We pride ourselves on being “mission-agnostic”, meaning our clients serve diverse backgrounds with focus areas ranging from mental and behavioral health to community development and racial justice.

WHAT WE NEED

RevComm Consulting is seeking a Grant Writing Intern to join our team for a 6-week summer internship. This opportunity is ideal for a current college student or recent graduate who is passionate about nonprofit work and interested in developing skills in grant writing, research, and fundraising strategy. The Grant Writing Intern will gain hands-on experience supporting a variety of nonprofit missions and causes through RevComm Consulting’s client partners. This internship provides meaningful exposure to the grant development process, including funding research, proposal preparation, and program documentation. The Grant Writing Intern will work closely with RevComm Consulting’s Founder and Chief Changemaker, who serves as the firm’s lead grant writer.

WHO WE'RE LOOKIN' FOR!

Education:

We at RevComm Consulting recognize that higher education is a privilege. While we don't typically implement an education requirement, this internship opportunity is specific to further driving a student or recent graduates' interest in the nonprofit sector. For the Grant Writing Intern position, we are seeking a current Undergraduate student or recent graduate.

Experience:

No experience necessary! This is a learning opportunity for students/new grads.

Core Competencies:

We are seeking a candidate who is comfortable with writing and conducting research. The ideal applicant will be self-motivated, detail-oriented, and interested in gaining experience in the nonprofit sector. Because this internship will be primarily remote/virtual, candidates should be proficient in the Microsoft Office Suite and have experience using Google Workspace.

Preferred Skills and Qualities:

- Strong project and time management skills
- Excellent interpersonal and communication skills; our team values collaboration, feedback, and learning from one another
- Highly organized, with the ability to plan ahead and meet deadlines in a fast-paced environment
- Skilled in writing with the ability to incorporate both emotional and statistical storytelling.
